American Indian Studies
Call for Temporary Non-Tenure Track Faculty Pool
2020 - 2021

American Indian Studies is currently accepting applications for the department lecturer pool for 2020-2021.

Classification and Salary: Appointment is expected to be at the rank of temporary faculty or lecturer with salary commensurate with qualifications and experience as the budget allows.

Positions: Part-time temporary faculty positions are regularly available as the budget permits.

Qualifications:
Required: A M.A./M.S./J.D. degree from an accredited institution.
Preferred: Experience teaching at the university level.

San Francisco State University is an Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong commitment to diversity. We welcome applicants of all ethnic, racial and gender identities, sexual orientations as well as people with disabilities. We particularly encourage those who may be from historically underrepresented groups.

Applications: Individuals wishing to be included in the pool must submit a letter of interest, a current curriculum vitae, contact information for three references, and sample syllabi for any course(s) they wish to be considered for via email to:

Joanne Barker
Professor and Chair, American Indian Studies
San Francisco State University
1600 Holloway Avenue
San Francisco, CA 94132
jm Barker@sfu.edu

An Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer
Title IV, Section 503 Employer